2011

Radial Dreams: Rotunda Quatrefoil

Heather K. Salwach

Follow this and additional works at: http://preserve.lehigh.edu/cas-lehighreview-vol-19

Recommended Citation
http://preserve.lehigh.edu/cas-lehighreview-vol-19/34

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Lehigh Review at Lehigh Preserve. It has been accepted for inclusion in Volume 19 - 2011 by an authorized administrator of Lehigh Preserve. For more information, please contact preserve@lehigh.edu.
ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS

emily rojer
Emily Rojer is a senior international relations and sociology major, with a minor in business. She is also a member of the global citizenship program. By exploring the administrative side of Lehigh, after college, she plans to investigate the wild west until she reaches the east.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.

kenny barry
Kenny Barry is a senior at Lehigh University majoring in International Relations and a member of the global citizenship program. With a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

faith roncoroni
Faith Roncoroni is a fifth year presidential scholar with an English major. My "appreciation and love of American Indian culture, discourse, and writings of Native American women" changed my understanding of American indians and the way I view (and, as an aspiring teacher, help others view) American indians that do not treat them as equals. She decided to embrace this quality and create a television series.

christopher langstaff
Christopher Langstaff is a senior graduating with a double major in political science and design. He is a cabinet member of the Beta Chi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, and starting goalie on the Lehigh ice hockey team. He has had a sustained interest in photography for many years, and works to create images that seem time-less.

margaret griffiths
Margaret Griffiths is a junior studying graphic arts, with a dual concentration in graphic and product design. She is a member of Fusion Studios, Lehigh's first student-run graphic design agency. She was inspired to photograph the results of February's ice storm, and thankfully didn't drop her camera.