DANIEL BEADLE is a member of the Class of 2018 majoring in computer science and business. When he's not taking photos for 2017 Epitome, he can be found sending emails on behalf of the Marching 97 which he serves as student manager.

TULANI BEY is a freshman. She is from New York City and attended The Dalton School in Manhattan. She's been doing digital photography for about six years and film for four years.

VINCENT CARUSO is a senior majoring in civil engineering.

COCO CHEN is an IDEAS major in the Class of 2020. Her goal is to combine engineering with many other subjects that she's passionate about while in Lehigh. She is also interested in language learning and hopes to graduate with a minor in French.

SIMONE COTTON is a senior at Lehigh University, majoring in design with a graphic concentration. She enjoys graphic design as much as her illustration work, finding interest in both digital illustration and ink pens as mediums for her art.

JILLIAN COWLES is a first-year chemical engineering major, with a minor in music. She is also a Choral Scholar and is involved with Lehigh University Choir, Dolce, InterVarsity, Alpha Omega Epsilon, and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

FATIMA ISABEL DE GUZMAN is from Trappe, Pennsylvania, and is currently a first-year IDEAS major. Every day when she came home from preschool she would gather some printer paper and cheap watercolors onto the kitchen table to make small paintings for her parents. As she matured, her love for art grew deeper and she now cannot see a future for herself without it. She has also been exploring photography and videography through her position at the College of Arts and Science's International Multimedia Resource Center.

MICHAEL DRURY is a senior majoring in civil engineering.

LEAH FERGUSON is currently in her final semester here at Lehigh. She is getting her bachelor's degree in architecture. She chose architecture because it is art that interacts with individuals in a practical way. Architecture is something she has loved since she was a child.

AMELIA GALGON is originally from Glenside, PA. She is a senior in the P.C. Rossin College of Engineering studying computer science. She decided to pursue a second degree in art during her junior year at Lehigh.

BECCA HONG is a first-year student at Lehigh.

KAYLEEN KELLY is a junior in industrial and systems engineering. She is also on the Women's Lacrosse team at Lehigh. In her spare time, she enjoys spending time painting and drawing for fun.

LOGAN KING is an undergraduate student majoring in structural engineering with a minor in business. His hometown is East Hanover, New Jersey.

PATCH KROLL is a design major and entrepreneurship minor fueled both by a desire to impact the world and coffee. In his time at Lehigh, he has been a part of Fusion Design Studio, The Marching 97, and created a board game "The Last Year of Carbon" that won a Eureka! Prize from the Baker Institute.

JENNIFER LIU is a senior architecture student that enjoys photography, traveling, and being outdoors. After graduation, she'll be working near Washington, D.C., at a construction company doing historical preservation.

JOSEPH LUCIA is a senior majoring in civil engineering.

RACHEL MARGRAF is pursuing a dual degree in physics and molecular biology as part of the Class of 2018. She is from Washington State, and on campus she is involved in research, serves as a Gryphon in the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) residential community, and plays on the Lehigh Quidditch team. In her future she hopes to do research in accelerator physics and X-ray light sources.

DOMENICA MASSAMBY is a senior architecture major from Mozambique. She has also pursued a minor in graphic design and shares a love for all things art—including food.

FEI MCMAHON is a junior pursuing her Bachelor of Science in biology in hopes of attending graduate school and earning her Doctorate of Physical Therapy. Last summer, she participated in Lehigh University's Iacocca International Internship Program as a trainee in the Department of Infection & Immunity at the Luxembourg Institute of Health. She is a Dean's List scholar and is currently co-president of Lehigh's Gymnastics Club.

JULIA NELSON is a junior from Basking Ridge, New Jersey, pursuing a triple degree in molecular biology, pharmaceutical chemistry, and mathematics. When not in class, she can be found doing biochemistry research in Mudd, volunteering at St. Luke's, or playing the piano at Zoellner. After graduating, she plans on attending medical school.

REECHA PATEL is a prospective double major in political science and English, and she plans on going to law school post-graduation. She enjoys reading and writing in all genres and topics; being an author is another goal of hers as well.

JULIA PATTERSON is in the Arts and Engineering program studying architecture, civil engineering, and global citizenship. When she grows up, she aspires to be as passionate and talented as Leslie Knope in a career focused on urban development (yes, there will be a park involved). On an average day, you can find her running back and forth from CU to Fritz, stepping on LU's Finest Step Team, painting murals for ISA, and coordinating the events for LeaderShape.

ARIANNA PINEIRO is a first-year student from Ringwood, New Jersey. She is majoring in materials science engineering. She is of Puerto-Rican and Dominican heritage, and she speaks Spanish. She also dances salsa, a traditional dance of her culture.

LARA REID is a junior bioengineering major. She loves drawing people, especially with splashes of fun colors.

KNOT SIRABHOP is a member of the Class of 2017 and is majoring in psychology (Bachelor of Science). He started taking photos in January 2017, and most of his work consists of streets, portraits, and landscapes such as this one. He would consider himself a photojournalist. He aspires to produce work that not only inspires others, but also inspires himself to explore more and, in turn, help others to see the world from different perspectives.

IDALYS TORRES is a sophomore IDEAS major at Lehigh, with concentrations in industrial engineering and theater design. Aside from creating art, she loves to dance, cook, and watch Project Runway! She is a part of Lehigh's Finest Step Team and African Renaissance, as well as a member of Lehigh's Culinary House.

KATERINA TRAUT is a senior majoring in political science and Africana Studies.

COLLIN WOLF is a senior architecture major graduating in May. He plans on spending the next year working before returning to school to complete a master's degree.
